A personal care home with a heart.

The House of Care, throughout its short eighteen year history, has been gifted by many committed and dedicated volunteers and supporters. Without such people the House of Care would not be able to provide the important services that we offer our residents on a daily basis. This week I was reminded of the great value in this, as I had opportunity to share our HoC story with the Development and Alumni Relations Division at Penn State University. During my presentation, and in the sharing of others within their development program, it became increasingly clear of the value of a donor, in regards to the fulfillment of a mission.

Rather it be the challenge of raising hundreds of millions of dollars as the university, or the more humble challenge of generating the dollars for our HoC $186,000.00 budget, we are dependent on finding donors who honor and believe in what we do.

Our mission, “what we do”, remains the same at the House of Care; to honor the dignity and worth of each individual who becomes a part of our home and our family. To provide personal care, while administering to the physical, spiritual, and emotional needs of each.

Our current five residents, from among the sixty eight we have served in our 18 year history, are a representation of this community’s heart and spirit. You, our donors, have chosen to share your dollars and your time to ensure the House of Care will continue. Because these people, our residents, are of value.

In this season of giving it is important to remember these things. Our mission, our residents, our community, and our donors are all so very vital, critical, and important.

Together we are the House of Care, and so much more. Thank you in advance for your generous donation,

Phil Jones, Administrator, and the HoC Board of Directors
